

Passages and pages

A twine story is made up of several passages, each with a different name.

For the reader, each passage will become a web-page, with links to the other pages you can get to from it.

The name of the first passage must be Start.

Each square in the story overview is a passage

To see inside a passage and edit its contents, double-click on it.

Running the code

If you click Test From Here a web page will open in a new tab, showing you the story as if you'd "opened the book" at that passage.

Finished editing the passage?

When you've finished editing the passage, close it by clicking the x symbol in the top right corner. Twine will automatically save your changes.
